SUBJECT: A terrible holiday in Japan

REPLY

Hi Jason,

Last Saturday, my parents and I flew to Japan for a holiday. We stayed in Tokyo and Nara for a few days. Then we came to Osaka.

There was a very big storm after we arrived here. The winds were very strong and the rain never stopped. Some streets looked like rivers. We only stayed in the hotel because it was dangerous to go out.

The next morning, we looked out of the window. All the shops were closed. The roofs of the houses were blown away. Many trees fell and some cars were damaged.

Although the weather is better now, the airport is still covered in water and the planes cannot take off. We want to return to Hong Kong immediately but we have to stay here for some more time. How sad!

Susan

Jason is reading a poem about different seasons.

Read the poem.

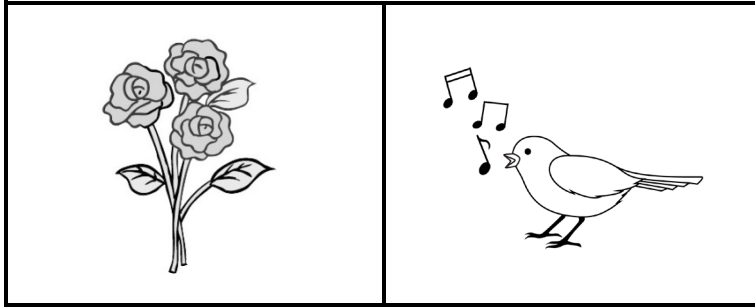

Mum likes to watch nature in spring, when flowers bloom and birds sing.	1
Strong cold winds no longer blow, and the warm sun melts the snow.
But she hates the fog when she looks outside, it's so wet even the walls will cry .	5
 Summer is Dad's favourite season. He loves it for only one reason. At the beach he can sunbathe and swim. In the water no one moves faster than him.	10
But oh! For many days rain may pour, and he hates hearing typhoons roar .
 Winter brings me the greatest cheer, as both Christmas and New Year draw near. I love to decorate the green pine tree, gifts and toys I can't wait to see.	15
But brrr , sometimes I almost freeze, when the temperature drops to 5 degrees.
